*New insights, new visions, new perspectives
Greet us at every turn.
The strapping Senior no longer sees
With the eyes of a Freshman.
With each new experience encountered
He is compelled to re-examine the past:
To weigh his values on new scales,
To view everything and everyone with new eyes.*

Take teachers for instance . . .

*Seen through the saucer eyes of the Freshmen,
A teacher appears to be
The sacred guardian of all truths.
Standing upon the lofty peaks
Of wisdom and understanding,
He casts down his factual pearls
Which need only be picked up and pocketed.*

*The experienced Senior views his teachers
In a more realistic perspective:
Having discovered them to be reliable
--though not infallible -- guides and companions
Along that uncertain road toward Human fulfillment.*

New knowledge

*Any man who has climbed a mountain will tell you,
The higher the peak the broader the vista.
As each of us, in his own faltering way,
Makes that awkward ascent toward
The summit of Wisdom, the same truth strike us:
The higher we climb the more we see . . .
The more there is to see.*

brings new perspectives

Athletics train a man to see

*The athlete soon discovers that
The roads to victory and defeat run parallel:
Either can lead him to his destination.
"The virtue lies in the struggle, not the prize."
He learns that the true victor is not necessarily
The man who has conquered all his foes,
But one who has conquered himself,
Who has learned to draw victory from defeat.*

life realistically

Some insights into life are best cultivated in

*The magic of personality,
The importance of sincerity and poise,
The magnetic value of thoughtfulness and good cheer:
These lessons are learned more quickly
In stocking feet at a crowded record hop
Than between the covers of some dusty tome.
Amidst the noise and laughter of a friendly evening,
The mind, like a lucky treasure hunter,
Gathers up myriad jewels,
To be sifted and sorted in quieter moments
And more tranquil surroundings.*

warm climates

Our goal. to see the whole of life in perspective

*Life, like a yearbook, is made of Many parts and impressions.
It remains for each man to discover the whole.
If he looks hard enough, searches long enough,
Wants badly enough, he will find the theme
Which gives unity and meaning.
Ultimately, of course, the key is to be found
In the hands of the Creator;
Only He can see the plan in its perfection.
To seek His counsel is to be assured
Of a share in His magnificent Vision,
Where every creature is seen in Perfect Perspective.*

SENIORS

*The noiseless font of time steals swiftly by,
And, ere we dream of manhood, age is nigh.
— Juvenal.*

*Endowed with a four-year legacy,
It remains for them
To take hold of the future
And set it in a meaningful* glory belongs to all of the

Not knowing the final outcome, rushed along with the spirited cur-

What is a hall?

A long, narrow space bounded by two walls. A stretch of floor that has to be cleaned too often. A way to get from class to class. A setting for a friendly gab session after school. A container crammed full of humans between a basketball game and sock hop. Sometimes, when teachers are scarce, a hockey rink. Filled with people, it can be the liveliest place in a school. Perhaps that is why when empty, it is the loneliest.

"Educate men without religion and you make them but clever devils."

Men of C. C. are educated for this world and the next. They are taught that religion is more than a subject: it is a way of life. It cannot be confined to the classroom — or even to the chapel and gym. Like the air we breathe, it must permeate every corner of our existence, or we shall suffocate and die.

Michigan weather has been temperamental before, but the year just past must set some sort of record. When Fall began all seemed bright and normal. That day when the student body ran friskily outdoors on a bomb scare, little did they know how moody Mother Nature was going to be later on. Take Christmas for instance. Postmen were literally sweating on their routes, as the temperature climbed near sixty. The only snow to be found was in department store windows. Then one day in late February, when flower lovers were just getting set to watch the crocuses bloom, a foot of snow tumbled from the sky crippling the entire city. How angry we all were upon discovering that we would be denied two whole days of school!

"The aim, if reached or not, makes great the life;
Try to be Shakespeare, leave the rest to fate."

In his lifetime every man must aim above himself in order to accomplish his goals. Catholic Central encourages her students to aim high. Living witnesses of her success are the many outstanding graduates in every walk of life. Though she is proud of such men, her main concern is for today's students whom she must shape for tomorrow. Through her courses, atmosphere and guidance, she shows them that excellence is more than a word: it is a way of life.

Basketball games, sock-hops, even a Hootenany, gave us many occasions this year to mix and mingle with some very pleasant company. No doubt some of our strongest memories of C.C. — memories that will remain with us long after we have gone — will be of Friday nights on a crowded gym floor.

Lightness, injuries, and an inexperienced defense were the phantoms which haunted the Shamrocks throughout a long and losing season. Despite the talents of Quarterback Dennis Voytovich, halfbacks Tom Lenaghan and Mike Gearty, and fullback Wayne Patrick, Coach Foley's squad was able to garner only one victory. The season was longer for no one than for the team itself. Their stoic endurance and their willingness to fight where they could not defeat, are qualities we must admire.

The Boys' Bowl Classic has long been established as one of the most colorful and exciting events in Detroit high school football. This year's installment was no exception as the Shamrocks clashed with the Central Division powerhouse, Detroit Cathedral. Despite a valiant effort on the field and in the stands, the Shamrocks succumbed to the overpowering Wildcat line. The final score was 27 to 6.

Reserves miss championship by a

Craig Smith (50) shows the Reserves' driving spirit in his attempt to intercept this pass.

The reserve football team compiled a six-one record, missing the championship by a mere six points. They out-scored their opponents 192-40. Crisp blocking, hard tackling, fine conditioning, and excellent team spirit made this an outstanding group. The players readily gave the long, hard hours of practice that are required of a championship team. We look with anticipation to the next two years.

Bob Bretz (92) blazes a trail for Brian Duffey (70).

Under the able coaching of Mr. Dennis Tymoczko and Mr. J. Quinlan, C.S.B., the Freshmen gridgers enjoyed an untarnished record. The team boasted a strong back-field with quarterback Bob Crongeyer, halfbacks Dan Mulvihill and Brian Duffy, and flankers John Hendricks and Terry Brown. Determined defensemen Bob Bretz, Dennis Antoniotti, Joe Scallen, Larry Madden, and Greg Smokovitz helped to secure the championship by their consistently brilliant performances.

District Champs, Central Division Champs

Senior guard Bob Law (24) drives in and up for two pts.

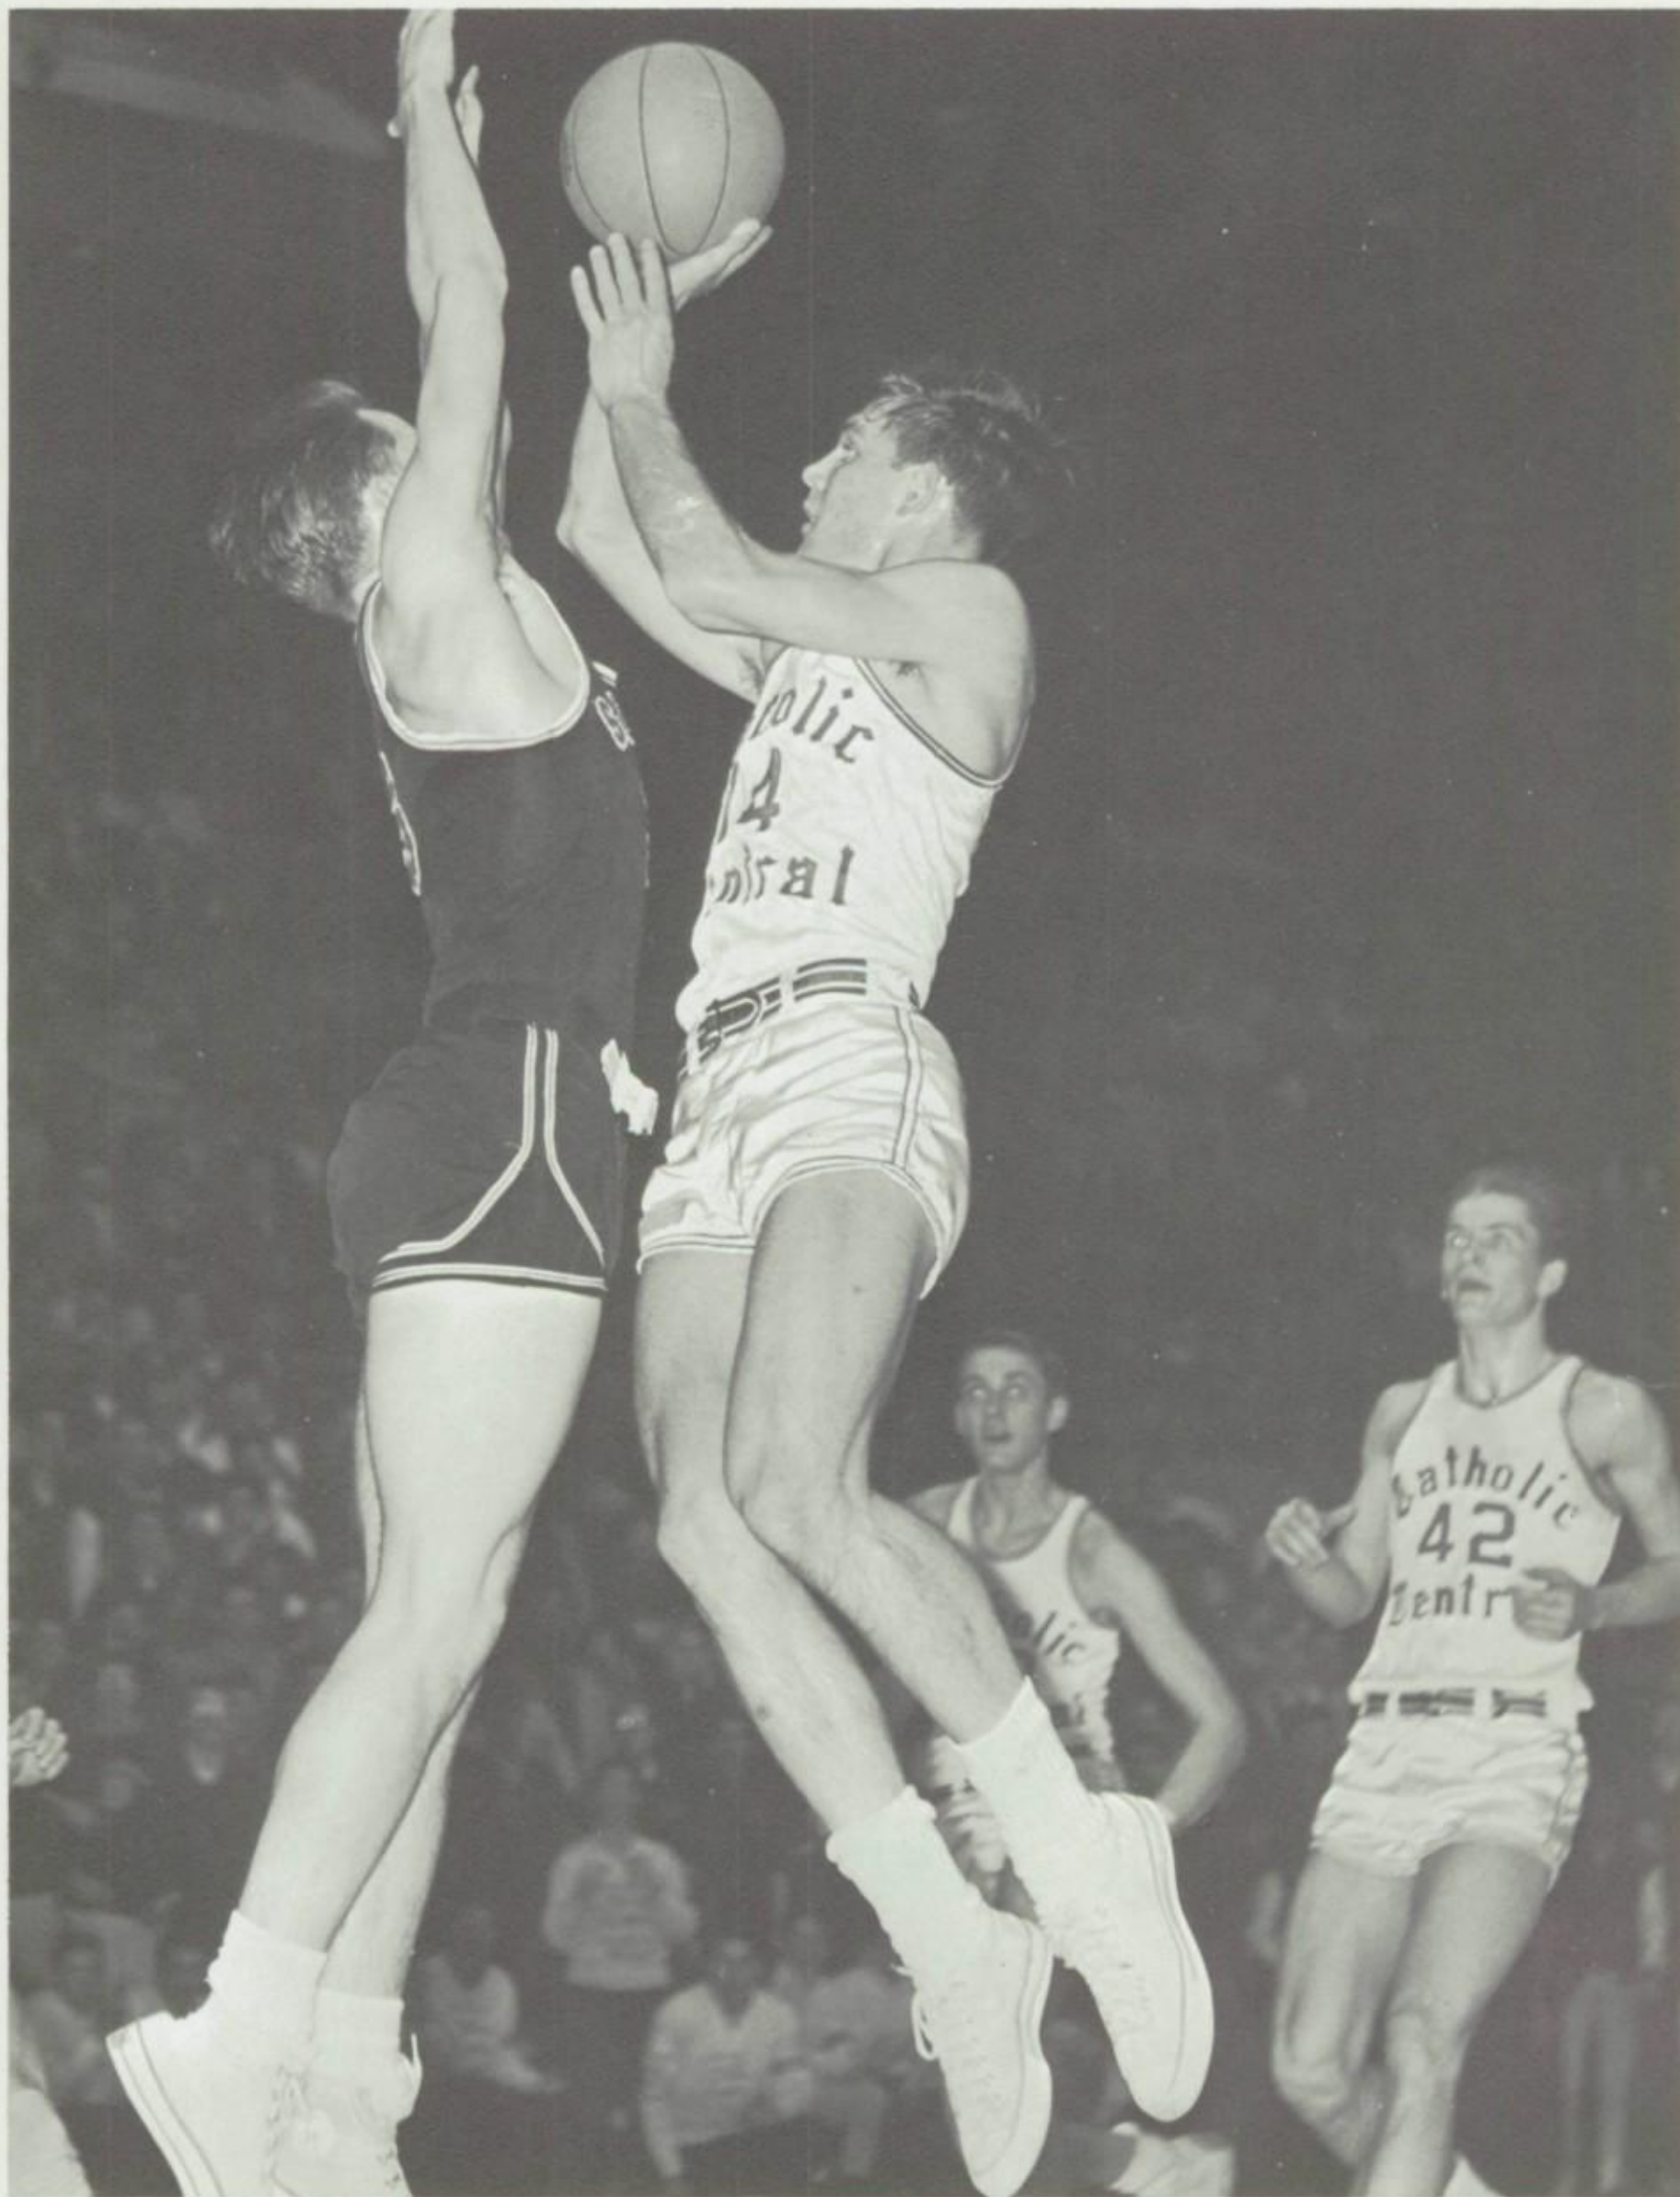

It takes sweat, talent and desire to make a championship team. The Shamrocks dripped with all of these. Coach Bill Foley's team displayed a formidable scoring punch, as play-maker Mike Gearty, along with Bob Law, Leo Kowalyk and Nick Ferri, hit from everywhere on the court. Likewise, the Shamrocks maintained a strong defense under the boards: Leo Kowalyk, Bob Sheiko and Denny Voytovich constantly forced opponents into errors. The squad's 10-2 league record earned them the Central Division title. Fine play in the State play-offs enabled them to bring home a district trophy as well.

Right: All-city, all-state (class A) guard, and co-captain of the Shamrocks, Mike Gearty, shows winning accuracy with the jump shot. Below: All-Central Division center and co-captain, Leo Kowalyk, does likewise.

"OK you guys! which one of you put his gum on the bench?"

A school's future, athletic or otherwise, can only be determined by its potential; and around C.C. there is a lot of that. In terms of basketball it is easy to see that the future is bright. Both freshman and reserve teams ended their seasons with overwhelming success. "The prospectively best freshman team in recent history," as Mr. Pollard their coach describes them, combined their height, speed, agility and intense desire to emerge the Central Division Champs. Their overall record was 13-1. The reserves, also Central Division Champs, found little trouble with their opponents as they won fifteen games. They came within a hair's breath of the city championship, losing a close one to Servite. Coach of this first rate team was Fr. French.

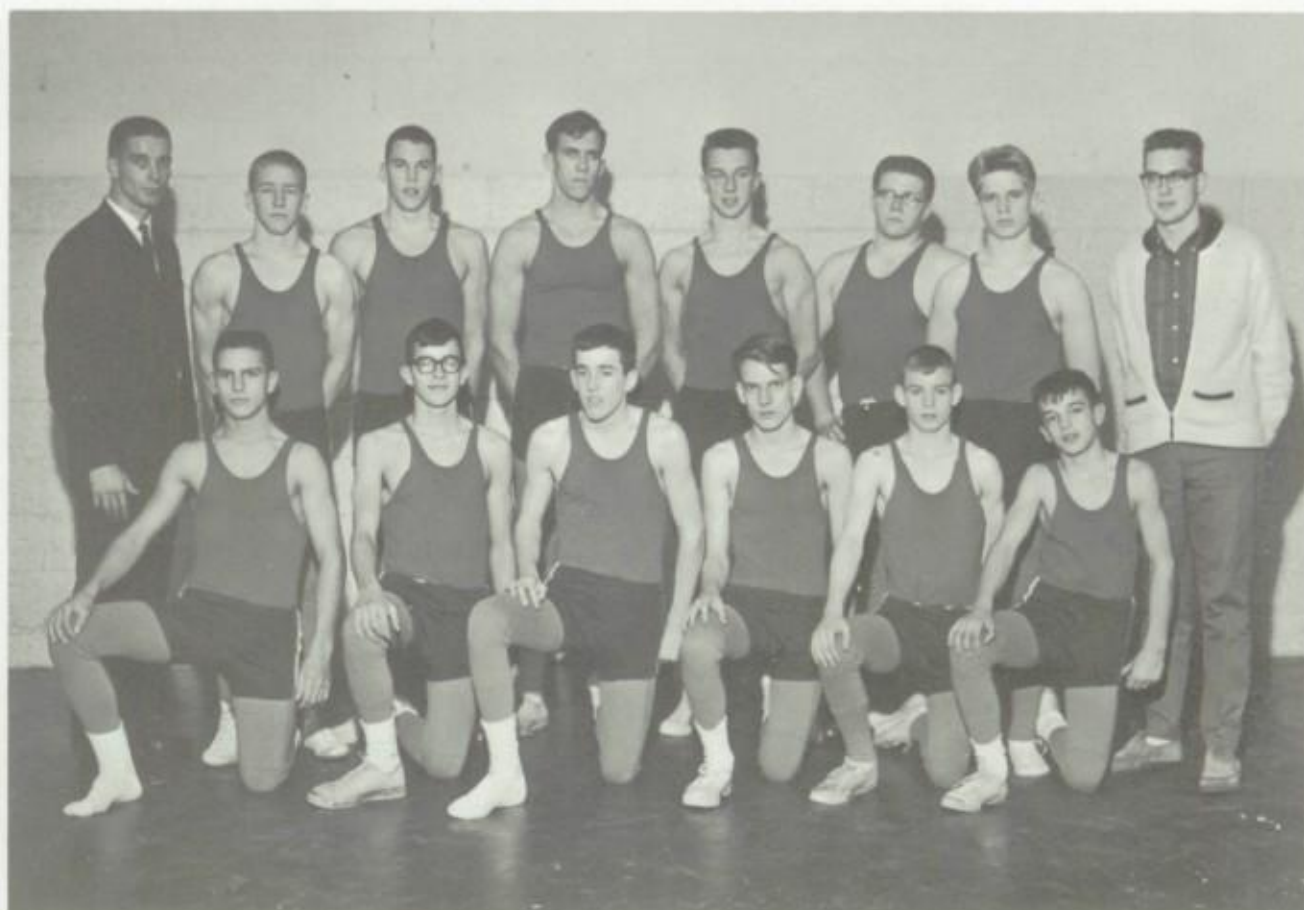

"He's not heavy, Father, he's my brother."

Coach Angus MacKenzie's young squad wrestled this year with some of the state's toughest teams; and though the won-lost record may not show it, had a successful season. Seniors Tom Wendt and Tom Prendevill, Juniors Jim Snyder and John Israel, all received all-city standing. If it weren't for a reversal in the last 12 seconds of his match, Pat Dilworth would have joined this elite group. Next year all but three of the varsity squad will be back. Opponents look out!

by three Shamrock harriers

Exhibiting remarkable ability and spirit the C.C. cross-country team earned well-deserved recognition with a fine season's record of seven wins and two losses. The Harrier's season was highlighted by the record breaking performance of three runners.

Fine balance among the entire team enabled the Shamrocks to capture second place in the state regionals and twelfth place in the finals. With these results it is evident why Mr. Smith called this year's squad "the best team I ever coached."

Summer training insures good spring baseball

Since Fr. Miller first assumed the position of head coach nine seasons ago, C.C.'s varsity has stacked up an impressive 96 wins, 34 losses. But such success has come as a result of hard work during the summer. Last year the U.A.W. team, coached by Fr. Enright, won C.C.'s first class "E" Recreation championship since 1955. Another summer team, Gage Oldsmobile, coached by Fr. Miller, played in two leagues. If last summer is an indication, this spring should see some fine baseball. Credit should also be given to the fine reserve coach, Mr. Pollard.

Varsity Hockey

Almost ten percent of the student body takes active part in the hockey program at C.C. The aim of each one of them is to play on the Varsity team, a perennial threat in the International and recreational leagues. This year the Shamrocks had a fine season, but suffered from inexperience.

With only five seniors on the squad, there were a few mistakes, but also much hope for the future. Special recognition should be given to the men who train our future varsity stars: Mr. Wills and Mr. Quinlan, C.S.B. A tip of the hat also to Mr. Curtain who coached the Varsity Recreation team on Sundays.

Initiated by Fr. Clemens, Director of student activities, the swimming team made its athletic debut at Catholic Central this year. The team, consisting of thirty-five members, had a rough beginning season; but Mr. Smith, head coach, and Mr. Terrell, assistant, have high hope for future seasons of glory. The team competed in the Central Division against such powerful opponents as Austin, Visitation and U of D. FR. WILLIAM J. GIBBONS, C.S.B.

Fr. William Gibbons, C.S.B., a graduate of Catholic Central High has returned this year to become its Principal. With him he has brought a freshness of spirit and ideals, and an active desire for excellence. Improvements in management, facilities and curriculum reflect his zealous spirit. Assisting and advising him are two other Central graduates long familiar to Shamrock students, Fr. William Stoba, C.S.B. and Fr. Richard Elmer, C.S.B. Fr. Richard Elmer, C.S.B., Head of the Religion Department, talks with members of his Senior Religion class.

Religion is life. Life changes in its accidentals; so does religion. But life remains essentially the same; and so also does religion. Religion courses at C.C. give students a firm basis for belief, and at the same time, strive to bring him into the aggiornamento spirit of Vatican II. Each teacher is given one class of religion. By this method all teachers and all students are kept close to the vitalizing principle and purpose behind our Catholic institution.

Appreciation and expression.
two-fold aim of English courses

However diverse they may be, all of the English courses at Catholic Central are alike in purpose. They aim at developing in the student an ability to express himself effectively, and to appreciate effective expression by others. Grammar, spelling, writing — however dull they may seem — have an important role to play. But so does good literature, where the mind is released from its own narrow confines to soar on the wings of other minds and other imaginations.

Language study promotes understanding of other cultures

Men speak in many tongues, a mystery to one another, until the communication barrier has been broken. But the wall between languages is made of sterner stuff than mere sounds and structures: there are whole cultures that must be bridged. Attitudes, values — even the idea of what is humorous — vary from nation to nation. Language courses begin a task that must be continued throughout life: understanding other peoples and other times.

Study of present and past prepares students for future

Not very often does one stop to consider that today's actions will be studied by tomorrow's historians. Their history books will be filled with our freedom marches, our judiciary decisions and our space accomplishments. They will learn from us, just as we must learn from our predecessors — and from ourselves. History courses have an important role to play in our development. They train us to learn not only from past events but from the present as well.

Math department meets challenge of technological age

Placed on the threshold of a highly competitive and advanced society, Catholic Central students of today are being rigidly prepared for the challenge of tomorrow. With almost all vocations and occupations now requiring some computational skill, these men of the future need more than a general knowledge of mathematics. Thus at C.C., college-bound students, while still receiving a firm grounding in the fundamentals, are introduced much earlier to refined mathematical concepts.

$$S = \int_0^4 \sqrt{1 + \frac{9}{4}t^2} \cdot 2t dt$$

Science courses help students discover the world

The universe is vast and mysterious. One can imagine what clouds of confusion must have veiled the mind of early man as he lived out his life in an inexplicable environment. But an unending procession of scientific discoveries has gradually dispersed the vapors of ignorance and shed light on unimagined realities. Each individual mind witnesses a repetition in miniature of this intellectual evolution, as the truths of the material world are brought into focus by stimulating teachers and books.

and successful as ever

A group of mothers, when they get together, always seem to have the knack of enjoying themselves tremendously, and at the same time getting a lot accomplished. The Catholic Central Mothers' Club is proof positive of this assertion. The Club is matchless in the zest, success and sheer number of its activities. Two big reasons for this are its inspiring moderator, Fr. Elmer, and its very capable president, Mrs. Telio Pais.

Each First Saturday finds many of the mothers assembled in the Chapel for Mass and Communion in honor of the Blessed Mother. The spiritual aim of the Club is thus accomplished. Socially, the Mothers have monthly meetings and put on those magnificent annual Christmas and Easter parties. The Club also renders financial assistance to the school through their monthly "500 Club" raffle, the Easter Party, and the Band-Supper-Card Party. The Mothers truly have the right to be proud of themselves.

Officers 1964-65. Seated: Mrs. D. Giannetti (Corresponding Sec.), Mrs. H. Peltier (1st Vice-Pres.), Mrs. T. Pais (Pres.), Mrs. E. Nowacki (2nd Vice-Pres.); Standing: Mrs. E. Marsh (Treas.), Mrs.

E. Brennan (Recording Sec.), Fr. R. Elmer, C.S.B. (Moderator), Mrs. J. Bales (Immediate Past Pres.), Mrs. J. Jackson (Financial Sec.).

Fr. Elmer gets a preview of the Easter Party decorations from the mothers in charge, Mrs. E. Nowacki, Mrs. L. Geheb, Mrs. R. Jackson, and Mrs. C. Kemen.

Easter Party Committee. Seated: Mrs. A. Blaine, Mrs. E. Behringer, Mrs. R. Janisse, Mrs. P. Howins, Mrs. R.

Dads' Club Officers. Front: Bernard Brown (President), Fr. William Gibbons, C.S.B. (Moderator); Back: John Wrysch (Secretary), Leo Champagne (Treasurer), Albert Forte (Vice-President).

Fr. Brown has worked with the Dads' Club on many successful projects. Now he delivers to them a final word before handing over the post of moderator to his successor.

Dad's Club effort results in new bus

Fr. Gibbons becomes new moderator

The Shamrock Dads' Club is one of the most active organizations of its kind in the city. The Dads sponsor a Millionaires' Party, a Father and Son Night, and a Father and Son Communion-Breakfast. They also play major roles in the Mayor's Tournament, the Boys' Bowl, and the Spring Drive. Just recently they purchased a new bus for the school.

An active school needs an efficient Dads' Club, and C.C. has one of the finest.

The old "Blue Goose" has seen its day, now that the "White Whiz" has been added to the C.C. rolling stock.

Whenever the 60 members of the C.C. Glee Club begin to sing, an awesome stillness falls over the audience. Their music possesses an indefinable quality which catches and holds their listeners in rapt attention. But the dynamic power and liquid beauty of their songs are not the products of mere chance. Long hours of daily practice, under the expert guidance of Fr. Paul Donohue and his assistant Fr. Edward Donohue, are the true explanation for their excellence. Every student is justly proud of the Glee Club, for they have brought honor to C.C. and fine music to the ears of Detroit.

A man in a very high position:
Moderator of the Band, Father
Canning Harrison, C.S.B.

The Band is certainly a strong contender for the busiest organization at C.C. The Marching Band has not only given color to our own football games, but to the U of D-Miami game as well. The Concert Band has performed at Holy Redeemer, Marion, Mercy, Ladywood, the School of the Good Shepherd Sisters, Windsor, and St. Mary's Academy, Monroe. They have given concerts at St. Michael's in Toronto and at Cathedral High in Hamilton; and of course, they have put on their annual Spring Concert at Ford Auditorium. But despite all this activity, the Mr. Watts trained Musicians have not sacrificed quality for quantity. This is evidenced by their outstanding showing in District and State competition. The untiring organizer behind all this activity is Father Harrison, Moderator since 1952.

Ski enthusiasts hit the local slopes several times this year, despite the fickleness and downright obstinacy of Mother Nature. Highlight of the winter was a trip to Mt. Frederick near Grayling, Mich. # National Honor Society revitalized by Fr. Embser

Through the efforts and interest of Fr. James Embser, C.S.B., the National Honor Society at Catholic Central has sprung overnight from a lose and inactive club into one of the most flourishing organizations in the school. The purpose of the Society is to encourage and increase academic excellence among students. Fr. Embser also sees the club as a means of laying open to its members some of the great opportunities available to scholars after graduation. Educators from nearby universities and C.C. graduates in various professions have been invited to speak to the group. May this fine organization and the prestige it has brought to our institution continue to grow in the years to come.

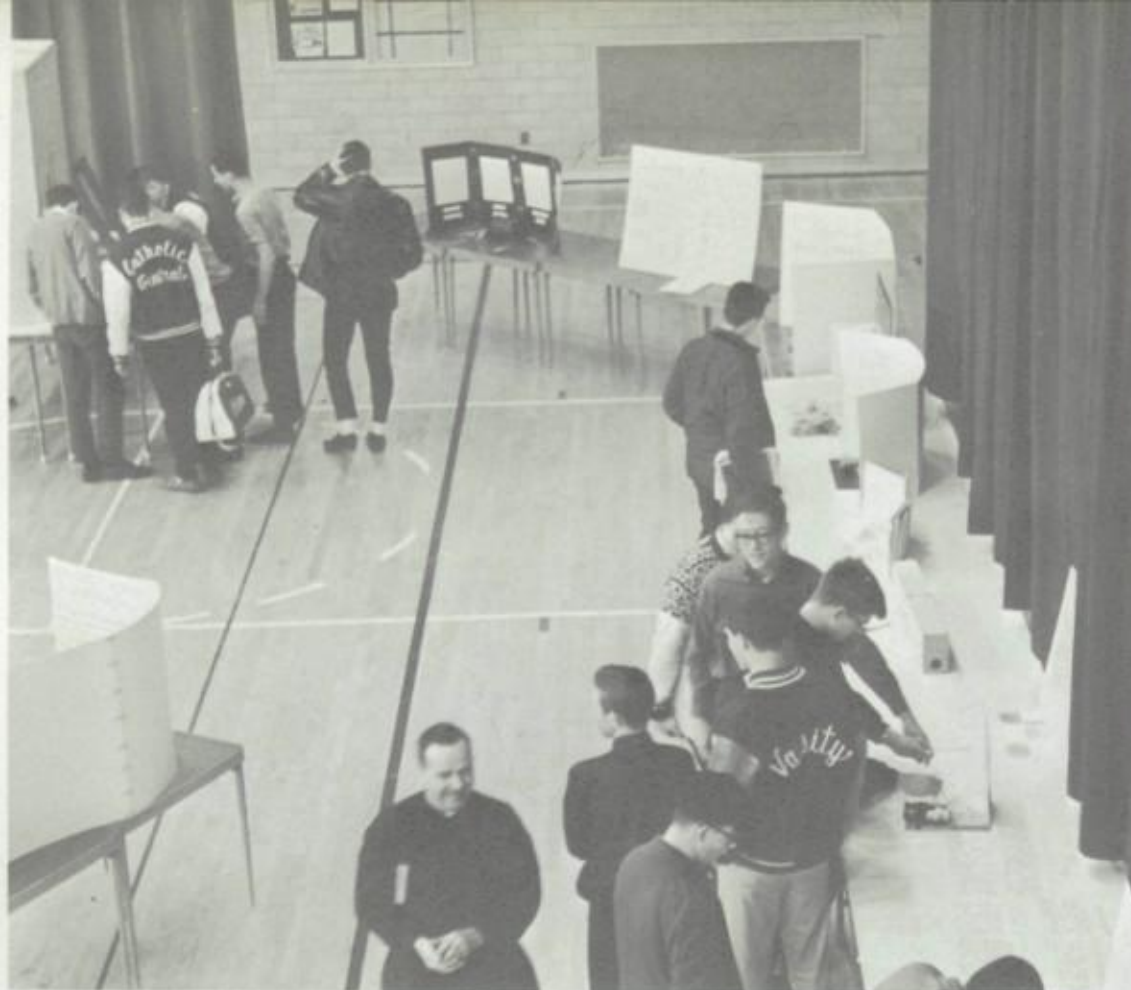

The Very Rev. Laurence V. Britt, S.J., President of the University of Detroit, encourages Society members to seek excellence.

Missing: W. Davis (President).

This was a banner year for the science club. Activities included tours to Laser Systems Inc. and the U. of M. Radiation Facilities; illustrated presentations by speakers from industry, universities and the school faculty; movies on topics as varied as "Ferromagnetic Domains" and "Color Magic." Highlight of the year was the Ninth Annual Art and Science Fair.

Interviews with outstanding graduates of C.C. were a regular feature in the Spectrum this year. Left: Tom Hathaway, Bernie Trompeter and Steve Cheff conduct an interview with dentist graduates, Dr. F. Hartge and Dr. J. Coyle.

School paper features outstanding journalism

Watching his staff in "action" the few days before deadline, Spectrum moderator Fr. Enright has been heard to exclaim, "It never ceases to amaze me how this paper ever gets to be printed." Nevertheless, five issues have emerged from the battle-scarred Spectrum office this year, each of them an exceptional piece of journalism. Co-editors were B. Trompeter and T. Hathaway. They were helped by News Ed. R. Carmona, Feature Ed. S. Cheff, Circulation Ed. D. Helferty, and Special Events Ed. J. Sharp.

Dantzer, E. McClimant, D. Harrison, J. Lothamer.

Fr. Gabriel Richard was an energetic Catholic missionary who labored in the Detroit area. Being extremely active in the early days of Detroit, he founded and diligently organized the educational facilities of Michigan. Fittingly in 1948 when C. C. organized an intellectual club to encourage high scholastic attainment, they chose Fr. Richard as the patron.

The great force behind the 1965 Shamrock: Ken McDaniel, Editor-in-chief, flanked by his associate Editors, Leo Kowalyk and Dick Lewandowski.

Shamrock staff strives for freshness

Literary staff: R. Cicone, J. Suty, R. Nicholl, J. Treboldi. Missing: J. Jonna, T. Patalan (typist).

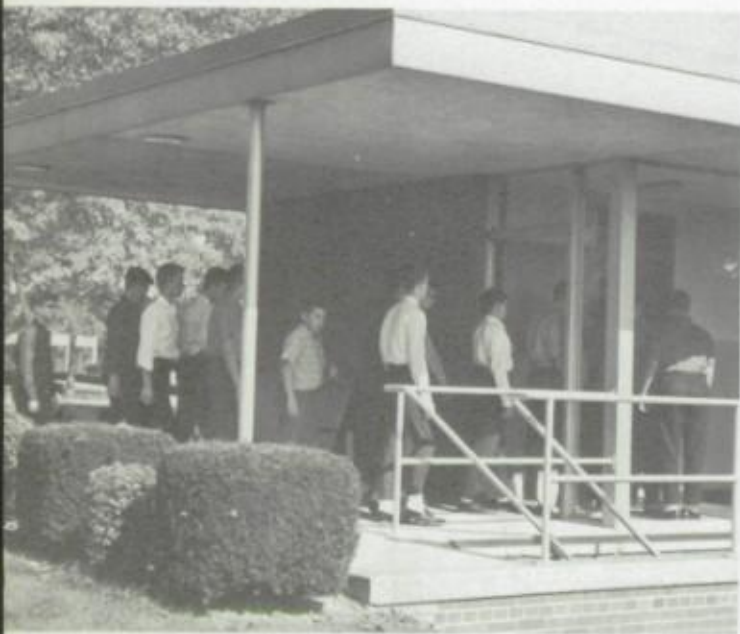

A completely new staff invaded the yearbook office this year. Green as saplings, they had nothing to offer but a desire to learn and a will to work. But these two qualities, along with some support from faculty advisors Fr. Tevlin and Mr. Wheeler, have resulted in the production that is now before you. Ken McDaniel and his associates have labored with dedication; may this Shamrock be their tribute and thanks.

Lay-out staff: J. McElligott, J. DeMare, J. Maney, D. Kapp (photographer).
